

Michael Christopher Marshall, Ph.D.

marshallmc@alma.edu
michaelmarshallphd.com
845 – 629 – 7147

Employment History

Visiting Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics & Research Methods, Alma College 2018 –
Visiting Assistant Professor of Comparative Politics & International Relations, Miami University 2016 – 2018
Visiting Assistant Professor of International Relations, Texas A&M University–Commerve 2015 – 2016

Education

Ph.D. Political Science; University of North Texas 2015
B.A. Philosophy, Politics, and Law; Binghamton University (SUNY) 2009
B.A. History; Binghamton University (SUNY) 2009

Research Interests: Political Violence, Patron-Client Politics, Post-Conflict Politics, Political Parties, Human Rights & Genocide, Ethnic Politics, Electoral Institutions, and Sustainable Peace and Democratization.

Publications

- (5) Marshall, Michael C. Forthcoming. “Foreign Rebel Sponsorship: A Patron-Client Analysis of Party Viability after Negotiated Settlements” Journal of Conflict Resolution
- (4) Marshall, Michael C. and John Ishiyama. 2017. “Does Political Inclusion of Rebel Parties Promote Peace after Civil Conflict?” in From Bullets to Ballots: The Transformation of Rebel Groups into Political Parties. Routledge: New York, NY.
- (3) Ishiyama, John and Michael C. Marshall. 2017. “What Explains Former Rebel Party Name Changes after a Civil Conflict Ends? External and Internal Factors and the Transition to Political Competition.” Party Politics 23(4), pp.364–375
- (2) Marshall, Michael C. and John Ishiyama. 2016. “Does Transformation of Rebel Organizations into Political Parties Promote Durable Peace?” Democratization 23(6), pp. 1009–1025
- (1) Ishiyama, John and Michael C. Marshall. 2015. “Candidate Selection and Former Rebel Parties.” Party Politics 21(4): pp.591–602.

Pipeline

Marshall, Michael C. “The Politics of Liquidation: A Patron–Client Analysis of Strategic Repression by Rebel Parties.” Status: Under Review

Marshall, Michael C. “Rebel in Chief: Patronal Politics and Risk-Acceptant Foreign Policy in Post-Settlement Systems.” Status: Under Review

Marshall, Michael C. and Ashley Streat. “Peacekeeping Mandates and Rebel Party Survival”

Ishiyama, John and Michael C. Marshall. “Rebel Party Origins and Good Governance.” Status: R&R
Government and Opposition

Working Papers

Ishiyama, John, Michael C. Marshall, and Brandon M. Stewart. “Are former rebel parties more likely to use violence during elections?”

Marshall, Michael C. “The Patronal Politics of Genocide”

Marshall, Michael C. “Ethnicity, Ideology, and Rebel Party Viability.”

Michael Christopher Marshall, Ph.D.

marshallmc@alma.edu
michaelmarshallphd.com
845 – 629 – 7147

Marshall, Michael C. “Partners or Parasites: Praetorian Politics in Post-Conflict States”

Marshall, Michael C. “Foreign Patrons and Client Parties in Established Democracies”

Courses Taught (number of times)

Comparative Politics (8); American Government (5); International Relations (4); Middle East & North Africa (3); Comparative Politics and Research Methods¹ (3); Civil Wars (2); Sub-Saharan Africa (1); Ethnic Politics (1); Foreign Policy Analysis (1); Genocide (1); Terrorism (1)

Courses Can Teach

Authoritarianism; Political Parties; Conflict Management; International Organizations; International Political Economy; Peace Studies; Revolutions & Social Movements; Duration Analysis.

Teaching Awards and Fellowships

Nominated – Associated Student Government Outstanding Professor Award, Miami University 2018
Howe Faculty Writing Fellow, Miami University 2017
Commendation for Teaching Excellence, Miami University 2017

Service

Conference Discussant/Chair: Midwest Political Science Association 2016; 2017; 2018; Junior Scholar Mentor 2017

Reviewer: American Political Science Review; Comparative Political Studies; Journal of Conflict Resolution; Government and Opposition; Democratization

Texas A&M University - Commerce: Academic Advisor; Faculty Advisor for Model Arab League

Miami University: Academic Advisor; Department Committee on Comparative Political Systems; Faculty Advisor for Model Arab League; Howe Faculty Writing Curriculum Development; Master’s Thesis Committee Member

Council on U.S. – Arab Relations: Faculty Advisor Model Arab League; Faculty Drafting Committee for Model Arab League Agenda 2017 – 2018; Faculty Judge Ohio Valley Model Arab League Conference

REFERENCES
John Ishiyama Distinguished Research Professor University of North Texas 940–565–4326 John.Ishiyama@unt.edu	Jacqueline DeMeritt, PhD Associate Professor University of North Texas 940–565–2283 Jacqueline.Demeritt@unt.edu
T. David Mason, PhD Regents Professor Johnie Christian Family Peace Professor University of North Texas (940) – 565 – 2386 David.Mason@unt.edu	Bryan Marshall, PhD Professor, Department Chair Miami University 513-529-0161 marshabw@miamioh.edu

¹ At Alma College all courses are taught with a quantitative methods component. Therefore my comparative politics sections are also administered as an introduction to quantitative research methods.

Michael Christopher Marshall, Ph.D.

marshallmc@alma.edu

michaelmarshallphd.com

845 – 629 – 7147