

Little Prick

by Anna Sump

The title of my project is Little Prick. It's part of the Art Senior panel to exhibit our work in the Flora Kirsch Beck Gallery on campus during the 2021 Senior Show. Since I am part of the art panel, I don't have any research, questions, methods, or results related to it. I will be presenting my art work in the gallery and defending it to jurors in April. We have to exhibit our work in order to graduate and I've spent all year preparing for it. The work I will be showing explores who I am and unique ways of displaying. I create original tattoo designs and I am a photographer. Both forms of art will be present in my show. My exhibit will attempt to mimic a tattoo shop lobby with flash sheets of original designs all over the walls. My two career aspirations are tattoo artist and photographer, so this show will be a great addition to my portfolio. My art mediums for this work are heavily based in watercolor, pens, sharpie markers, and photography. My designs are influenced a lot by my mental health, my beliefs, music, and a few other interests. They are a great way of showing off your personality in a fun way. I love designing tattoos because when people get that on them it's a permanent work of art and they will proudly show it off to the world wherever they go. I love photography because it's a great way of capturing a moment and you can be so creative with it. Both types of art are a good way of representing who I am.
