

Alma College Graduate Survey Information - Teacher Education

2023 Teacher Education Graduates

66.7% of Alma College's 2023 teacher education graduates who responded to the Career & Personal Development six-month graduate survey (86.7% department response rate) indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school.

83.3% of Alma College's 2023 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Career & Personal Development six-month graduate survey indicated that they are satisfied that this primary activity (employment or graduate school) meets their career goal.

83.3% of Alma College's 2023 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Career & Personal Development six-month graduate survey said they would choose Alma again.

2022 Teacher Education Graduates

100% of Alma College's 2022 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey (72% department response rate) indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school.

87.5% of Alma College's 2022 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey indicated that they are satisfied that this primary activity (employment or graduate school) meets their career goal.

94% of Alma College's 2022 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey said they would choose Alma again.

2021 Teacher Education Graduates

100% of Alma College's 2021 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey (92% department response rate) indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school. Of those, 100% are employed.

87% of Alma College's 2021 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey indicated that they are satisfied that this primary activity (employment or graduate school) meets their career goal.

87% of Alma College's 2021 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey said they would choose Alma again.

2020 Teacher Education Graduates

92% of Alma College's 2020 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey (75% department response rate) indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school. Of those, 100% are employed; 0% are enrolled in graduate school.

100% of Alma College's 2020 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey indicated that they are satisfied that this primary activity (employment or graduate school) meets their career goal.

100% of Alma College's 2020 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey said they would choose Alma again.

2019 Teacher Education Graduates

100% of Alma College's 2019 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey (89% department response rate) indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school. Of those, 100% are employed; 0% are enrolled in graduate school.

100% of Alma College's 2019 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey indicated that they are satisfied that this primary activity (employment or graduate school) meets their career goal.

87% of Alma College's 2019 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six month graduate survey said they would choose Alma again.

2018 Teacher Education Graduates

95% of Alma College's 2018 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey (88% department response rate) indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school. Of those, 81% are employed; 14% are enrolled in graduate school.

100% of Alma College's 2018 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey indicated that they are satisfied that this primary activity (employment or graduate school) meets their career goal.

92% of Alma College's 2018 teacher education graduates who responded to the optional questions on the Center for Student Opportunity six-month graduate survey said they would choose Alma again.

2017 Graduates

92 % of Alma College's 2017 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six month graduate survey indicated that they were either employed full time or in graduate school.

100% of Alma College's 2017 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six month graduate survey indicated that they would choose Alma again if they had to make the decision over again.

70% of Alma College's 2017 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six month graduate survey indicated that their job or graduate program was along their desired career path, the remaining 30% did not respond to this optional question on the survey.

100% of Alma College's 2017 teacher education graduates who responded to the Center for Student Opportunity six month graduate survey and are employed are working in the field of education.